

READING AND WRITING AMBASSADORS

Our Reading and Writing ambassadors have an important role and position at St Peter's. First and foremost, they are selected as role models for the subject; they all share a passion for reading and writing and are keen to share this enthusiasm with their peers, teachers and adults at school as well as visitors to the school. The children are also given responsibilities in different ways and through different events.

- Reading Ambassadors in each class look after book areas, contribute to displays such as book reviews and play a key role in Book Club and 'book talk' sessions.
- Writing ambassadors in class often support other students in writing tasks through developing ideas, structuring sentences or helping with spelling.
- There is an inspiring display of recent work by our Writing Ambassadors near the Studio

Events

- Attended Writer's workshop with author Thomas Taylor
- Took part in Guinness World Record Poetry event
- Organise new books for classroom book corners
- Help publicise various events such as the Book Fair and poetry competitions.